

200 REPORTED KILLED IN RAILROAD WRECK.

C. & O. Passenger Train Said to Have Gone Through the Greenbrier Bridge East of Hinton and all on Board Perished.

DENIED BY THE RAILROAD OFFICIALS.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 26.—A special to the Commercial-Tribune from Charleston, W. Va., says:

It is reported here that a Chesapeake & Ohio railway train went through the Greenbrier river bridge, which had been damaged by the prevailing floods. It is supposed that there were about 200 people on the train, and that all were lost. All wires are down at and near the crossing of this river, and it is impossible to get any sort of confirmation of the disaster. Even the railroad officials are unable to secure communication with points on either side of the river.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 26.—There has been great apprehension to-night over a report about a Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train going through the Greenbrier river bridge, near Hinton, W. Va. All three wires on that line are down and it is impossible to reach Greenbrier river or any points near it. Messages have been sent to New York and elsewhere and that place cannot be reached from either the east or the west. Many messages have been sent by those who have friends on that road to-day, as it was not known what train, if any, went through the bridge, but no response to any messages have been received and they are accepted only as subject to delay. Charles B. Ryan, assistant general passenger agent of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway, is here to-night, and he discredits the story entirely.

Bad Landslide.
He said there was a very bad landslide near one of the Greenbrier river bridges, and it has compelled them to transfer passengers during the day. Owing to the high water in the river, an attempt to transfer passengers was made to-night and two trains that left here to-day are being held over until morning. The train reported to have been wrecked in the Chesapeake & Ohio near that place. According to reports received by the Post the train reported to have been wrecked in one of the west-bound specials of the Chesapeake & Ohio due in Charleston early this morning and in Cincinnati to-night.

General Denial Made.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—The Post has received a message from the railroad telegraph operator at Hinton, W. Va., saying there is no foundation for the story of a wreck on the Chesapeake & Ohio near that place. According to reports received by the Post the train reported to have been wrecked in one of the west-bound specials of the Chesapeake & Ohio due in Charleston early this morning and in Cincinnati to-night.

Freight Wreck Reported.
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 26.—The Chesapeake & Ohio officials here positively deny the story of a passenger train wreck at Greenbrier river bridge and all stories of any loss of life on the line.

The Dispatch had a special after midnight from Ronceverte, which is within a few miles of every point at which the Chesapeake & Ohio crosses the Greenbrier. The special reports a freight wreck, with no loss of life at Allegheny, and mentions delay of passenger trains in such a way as to discredit entirely the passenger wreck report.

At 1 a. m., the Chesapeake & Ohio was working direct to Hinton and reaffirm their denial.

Denied By Superintendent.
At 3:35 this morning the following was received:

Senor Illera said after the session that some of the delegates intend to attack General Lee on the ground that he had not always been a friend of the Cubans and that in view of this General Lee's friends thought it would be better not to press the resolution of regret.

BEATTY CAPTURED.

Slayer of David A. Nine Found at Home in the Garret—Placed Under Arrest.

TERRA ALTA, W. Va., Nov. 26.—Another chapter of sadness was added to the Salt Lake murder this afternoon, when J. Wesley Beatty, who shot and killed David A. Nine, Tuesday morning last, made his family a tearful good bye, forever.

Constable Zack Felton, who held the warrant for Beatty, learned that the hunted man had returned home, and with a couple of deputies went to the farm residence to arrest him. Beatty's revolver was found down stairs, and after a search of the premises, Beatty himself was found seated in the garret. He surrendered to the officials, without a struggle, or a murmur.

Before leaving home he arranged all his business affairs, and made provision for the future of his family. When the time came to say farewell to his wife, his two married daughters, and the son, Beatty broke down completely and wept.

On arriving at Terra Alta, Beatty was taken before Squire John W. Hill and upon the warrant being read, Beatty waived examination, and was committed to the Kingswood jail to await the action of the grand jury. The prisoner was in a deplorable state of dejection, scarcely recognizing his old friends and having little to say to any one.

Politz confessed some time ago that he killed Stantos, but said it was in self defense.

The two men came here from Cincinnati and opened up a candy factory and confectionery. Stantos was left and no suspicion existed of his murder until his body was discovered. The case created the biggest sensation that has stricken the city for a long time.

WIND AND RAIN PLAY HAVOC IN VARIOUS PARTS

RIVERS REACH DANGER LINE.

Storm Swept Over the Eastern and Middle States—Vessels on Lakes Unable to Cope With Wind.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 26.—The continuous rainfall of the past forty-eight hours has caused a rapid rise in all streams in this section of the state. The Kanawha has almost reached the danger line here and people in the lowlands are already moving out. The Kanawha at Clay, five miles above, and rising one-half foot per hour. At Kanawha Falls, thirty-six miles above, the river is 23.5 feet and stationary. At least four feet more are expected. Swept Through the Gorges.
ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Water continued to sweep down through the Ithaca gorges all day and at 9 o'clock to-night the flood had subsided but little. The danger mark was passed about noon, however. The lower flats near the fair grounds, are transformed into a lake and horses stabled there for the winter were barely rescued. The great creek was experienced along Six Mile creek, the banks of which are low. Through the city the bridges stood the strain well, but several light buildings along the flats were floated off. There was much delay to flood trains. No trains on the Lehigh Valley from the south could arrive, while all the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western trains were compelled to unload passengers on the West Hill and bring them into town by carriages. A wash-out in the retaining wall on State street, opposite Cornell University, occurred, and a pedestrian fell ten feet into the opening in the dark, but escaped without serious injury.

Water Reached Its Climax.

It has nearly ceased raining. Many parts of the city are flooded and the fire and police departments were busy all afternoon aiding in the work of rescue. Nearly all the basements in the business district are under water. Telephone messages from points along the headwaters of Chemung river report the worst floods since 1839. At Knoxville, Pa., two iron railroad bridges were swept away. Traffic on the Conemaugh branch of the Pennsylvania division of the New York Central is suspended.

Heavy Northeaster.
BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The heavy northeaster storm which began here late last Saturday, increased in intensity during last night. While snow fell in northern New England the precipitation in this vicinity was in the form of rain and little damage resulted except to telephone and telegraph companies. Telegraph communication with Vermont was cut out early in the morning. The wires to Bangor, Maine, and other eastern points were also down. Heavy snow fell in Vermont, northern New Hampshire and parts of Maine. In some places it reached a depth of two feet.

Reservoir Broke.
ATHENS, Ohio, Nov. 26.—As a result of the heavy rains the reservoir near Chauncey, burst to-day and flooded the town a mile away. The reservoir covered three acres and was twenty feet deep. A hundred yards of railroad track was washed out and nearly all the residences in Chauncey were flooded. SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE INTELLIGENCER.

The water was three or four feet on the streets here, but did not do much damage. The Glenn Road and Lumber Company lost about $5,000 in lumber and logs, with considerable damage to mill property. Farmers along the river bottom lost a great deal of hay and other feed and fencing.

The river and its tributaries are overflowing their banks and are bearing away quantities of cross ties, lumber and other property. Some 9,000 logs have gone out, taking with them the false works of the two new railroad bridges south of Barboursville. Loss estimated at $20,000 to $25,000. The track of the new Guyandotte Valley railroad just completed to Salt Rock, a distance of eighteen miles, has been almost ruined. The river is rising above and still more damage is expected.

DUKE OF MANCHESTER
Wins the Affections of His Father-in-Law—Latter Will Pay Off Some of His Old Scores.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Eugene Zimmerman, whose daughter was married to the Duke of Manchester a week or so ago in England, was interviewed here to-day. He said to a reporter:

"I have come here to meet my daughter and her husband. After they have resided here a few days, he will go to Cincinnati, and a reception will be given at my home. The Duke is a bright chap. He's a fine, manly fellow. I like a man who went to work as he did as a newspaper man when he was here. Some of his articles were first rate, too. At no time was I opposed to his marriage to my daughter. Those stories are all moonshine."

"Is it true that the Duke is in a bad way, financially?" asked the reporter.

"I guess there won't be any difficulty about his debts. Not at all. That does not make any difference. I don't care to speak about the marriage portion. That is a private matter. But there won't be any trouble about debts. They will be well, that's all right; all right."

"Is it likely that the Duke may settle down in America and enter the railroad business?"

"No, no; the Duke is going into British politics. He is entitled to a seat in the house of lords, and he is going to turn his attention to politics."

Mrs. Schmoll Found Not Guilty.

It was shown at the trial that Mrs. Ostrander had been intimate with Mrs. Schmoll's husband and had taunted her, as the defense claimed, beyond endurance. The defense was temporary insanity.

COUNT BONI AND THE GOULDS NOW INTO HOT WATER.

Reaping the Rewards of the Former's Extravagance—Injunction Granted in Favor of His Creditors.

RESTRAINING THE TRUSTEES

From Receiving or Paying Out Money—Only Given $250,000 a Year on Which to Live.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Justice Fitzgerald, in the supreme court, on the application of attorneys for Anton J. Dittmar issued an injunction to-day, restraining Count Boni de Castellane, Anna Gould, Countess de Castellane, and George J. Gould, Howard Gould, Edwin Gould and Helen M. Gould, as trustees under the will of the late Jay Gould, from receiving or paying out any portion of the property left by Jay Gould. The order also restrains the trustees from paying to the Countess de Castellane or any one acting for her, any rents, issues, profits, income or avails under the will of Jay Gould, or from applying any of her share under the will to the payment of any debts incurred by her.

Must Live Economically.
It is claimed that $250,000 a year is all that the Count and Countess require for their support, and the plaintiff asks that the remainder of the income should be applied to the payment of the count's debts. It is said that over $250,000 of surplus income has already accumulated in the hands of the trustees, which ought to be used for this purpose. The present suit is said to be a test case, and it is reported, is backed by other creditors than Withelm.

Income a Trust Fund.
The will of Mr. Gould provides, in substance, that the income is to be a trust fund in the hands of the trustees, to be appointed for the support and maintenance of his daughter and that she cannot anticipate or dispose of any part of that income until it is actually received by her, and that until so received it shall not be liable for her debts or those of her husband; and undoubtedly the trustees will feel it to be their duty to have this provision in the will carried out in its full extent or as far as possible. She has no control, nor has the court any control over the principal sum, which goes to her children after her death.

"In the foregoing statement it is said the creditors claimed the proceeds of the Paris property of George Gould was appointed guardian for his sister, that the idea of the Gould family was to get possession of the income of the Countess de Castellane and force her creditors to settle on their own terms. This is obviously a mistake, as the only effect of that proceeding is to prevent her from incurring fresh obligations without the consent of her brother."

AMERICAN GOODS
Gaining a Foothold in Foreign Countries—Germans Show Their Jealousy—Have Had a Monopoly.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Vice Consul General Hannauer, at Frankfurt, Germany, writing to the state department, calls attention to a statement in a recent German publication, regarding the growing American trade in the Levant. The article says:

"Lately two firms in Constantinople have, for the first time, received extensive shipments of American shoes. This shows that the persistent efforts of the Americans to gain a footing in the Levantine markets have achieved success. Since the establishment of a direct steamship line between the United States and the Levant, American trade with Turkey has made marked progress. European manufacturers would do well to keep their eyes on the actions of the Americans in these markets."

Hard to Get a Foothold.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The markets of the East are not waiting for American goods, for they already are occupied by English, German and French trade, writes Charles M. Dickinson, United States consul general at Constantinople, to the state department, from Birmingham, N. Y.

The entering wedge, he says, is not to be driven into these markets without intelligent, persistent and vigorous blows. Trade generally must be exploited and built up by the same means and methods used in other localities, where the field has been pre-empted, especially as those who have enjoyed a monopoly of these markets are shrewd enough to be extremely jealous and apprehensive of American rivals, says Mr. Dickinson.

Break in Erie Canal.
ROME, N. Y., Nov. 26.—A break occurred in the sixty mile level of the Erie canal four miles west of here at 3 p. m. to-day. One hundred feet of the bank went out and the water rushed down on the flats. The water is swiftly going out and all boats on the canal will be grounded where they are.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Secretary of War Root is expected to reach Washington from Cuba on Wednesday.

OUR STATE AT BUFFALO.

West Virginia's Exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition Will be Creditable—One of the Commissioners Talks.

Edwin Eugene Smith, editor of the Parkersburg West Virginian, a trade paper, is at the McJure on his way home from Buffalo, whither he went with Hon. S. W. Walker, of Martinsburg, and Col. J. M. Porter, of New Cumberland, in the capacity of commissioners from West Virginia to the Pan-American Exposition, which will open in the progressive New York city next spring.

These representatives from the great mineral state of West Virginia were tendered a hearty welcome by the officers of the exposition and were given practical assurances that an exhibit from this state would be appreciated when they presented the West Virginians with a choice location on the exposition grounds, only two blocks from the main entrance and the same distance from the government buildings. The position of the West Virginia building will be directly opposite the Cuban location and in the neighborhood of the New England settlement, it being the best location on the ground.

The commissioners secured 100 feet by 150 feet which was considered large enough area for the exhibit that will likely be made. Mr. Smith informs the Intelligencer that already many leading coal, oil and lumber men have signified an intention of assisting in making West Virginia's exhibit one of the largest at the exposition, and if the legislature lends a helping hand by passing an appropriation bill of $35,000 or even a few thousand more, there will be no question as to the success of this state's exhibit. Seventy-five thousand dollars was appropriated for the World's Fair and the Pan-American exposition in some features will outrank that great fair at Chicago.

THE HISSON JURY
Was Secured Yesterday Afternoon Without Difficulty—Two Attorneys Indulge in Ordinary Every-Day Temper—The Case Stated.

The jury for the second trial of the suit of Dr. S. K. Hissom against his father, J. R. Hissom, for $50,000 damages, was secured yesterday in the circuit court, with little or no difficulty. The jury is composed of the following citizens: John Schrader, W. C. Bates, Richard Schoepner, Charles Lamb, J. I. Carpenter, C. A. Exley, Albert Dittmar, George Dorn, Jacob Metzger, Charles Busbey, James White, James Day. The jurors rejected by the attorneys were: G. Wilson Smith, Charles Sample, Joseph Paull, Jasper Nesline, Jack Crogan, Campbell Savage, Charles Steger, James Redfox.

The first matter disposed of was the motion for a continuance, argued by Messrs. Hubbard and Howard, argued by Judge Hervey.

At noon adjournment there was a spat between Attorneys S. G. Smith and John A. Howard, regarding the alleged "use" of the Register by Mr. Howard and the "daily trying of the case in the News," alleged against Smith by Howard. Mr. Howard threatened to chastise Mr. Smith both in the court room and on the lower floor of the court house, and Mr. Smith was ready to enter into a test of physical superiority, but Sheriff Richards intervened and no blows were struck.

At the afternoon session the case was stated to the jury by Mr. Smith, for the plaintiff, and by Mr. Howard, for the defense.

Testimony will be heard this morning, and the trial will continue several days. There were but a few spectators.

STATE NATIONAL GUARD
May Go to Charleston on the Occasion of Governor-Elect White's Inauguration—Following the Example of Other States.

A reporter of the Intelligencer had an interview with an officer of the West Virginia National Guard yesterday afternoon, and was told that there is a movement on foot to have the entire guard of the state, composed of two regiments, taken to Charleston, to participate in the inauguration of Governor-elect White, on March 4, 1901. This move would be but following the footsteps of progressive states like Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York. On the occasion of an inauguration of a governor and President, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York send their entire National Guard to participate in the ceremonies. Ohio and many other states send one or more regiments. It is very likely that West Virginia will do this in the future.
